This device is sufficiently intriguing and shows sufficient promise that it appears worthwhile to accelerate its more firm use by contracting for further research which would define more exactly what the test is really measuring. The amount of such a contract would be approximately $10,000.

3. It is recommended that permission be given to negotiate an extension of this contract with the [REDACTED] for an amount not to exceed $10,000. This amount is available in OTR allotments for FY1957.
